DURHAM, N.C., March 05, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Humacyte, Inc., a clinical-stage biotechnology platform company developing universally implantable bioengineered human tissue at commercial scale, today announced that the clinical results of five-year outcomes in patients receiving the human acellular vessels (HAV) for arteriovenous (AV) access in hemodialysis have been accepted for oral presentation at the Charing Cross (CX) International Symposium taking place virtually April 19-22, 2021. On February 17, 2021, Alpha Healthcare Acquisition Corp. The results are supportive of Humacyte's ongoing development program in AV access which includes a Phase 3 trial in AV access to enable hemodialysis in which patients are randomized to receive either an HAV or an autogenous fistula, the current standard of care.

The details of the presentation are as follows:

About HAV

Human Acellular Vessels (HAV) are engineered off-the-shelf replacement vessels initially being developed for vascular repair, reconstruction and replacement. HAV is intended to overcome long-standing limitations in vessel tissue repair and replacement – it is manufactured at commercial scale, eliminates the need for harvesting a vessel from a patient, and clinical evidence suggests they are non-immunogenic, infection-resistant, and become durable living tissue. HAV is currently being evaluated in two Phase 3 trials in AV access and a Phase 2/3 trial for vascular trauma, and has been used in more than 430 patient implantations. It is the first product to receive Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapy (RMAT) designation from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and has also received FDA Fast Track designation.

About Humacyte

Humacyte, Inc., is developing a disruptive biotechnology platform to deliver universally implantable bioengineered human tissues and organs designed to improve the lives of patients and transform the practice of medicine. The Company develops and manufactures acellular tissues to treat a wide range of diseases, injuries and chronic conditions. Humacyte's initial opportunity, a portfolio of human acellular vessels (HAVs), is currently in late-stage clinical trials targeting multiple vascular applications, including vascular trauma repair, arteriovenous access for hemodialysis, and peripheral arterial disease. Pre-clinical development is also underway in coronary artery bypass grafts, pediatric heart surgery, treatment of type 1 diabetes, and multiple novel cell and tissue applications. Humacyte's HAVs were the first product to receive the FDA's Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapy (RMAT) expedited review designation and received priority designation for the treatment of vascular trauma by the U.S. Secretary of Defense.
